Wyoming - A political party is opening its national headquarters tonight in West Michigan.

The Constitution Party is basing its national activities out of a building at 5500 South Division in Wyoming.

The party's presidential candidate, Chuck Baldwin, is a Baptist minister and radio talk show host.

A Muskegon man was in the running for the Constitution Party's presidential nomination. Max Riekse of Fruitport Township campaigned for the spot on the ballot, but he left the party after it named Baldwin as its candidate.
